COL James Ralph

Project Manager

James.Ralph@us.army.mil

407-384-5200

Mission:

PM TRADE is the Army's solution provider for instrumented training systems. We manage the acquisition of training systems to meet the user's requirements. Our goal is to deliver the systems on schedule, within cost and to provide life-cycle management to ensure the best value products for the Army and/or Joint Service customers. We deliver training systems for the Maneuver Combat Training Centers, homestation and deployed locations.

Currently, PM TRADE focuses on Live Environment Training Systems including training instrumentation systems to support home station training, Military Operations in Urban Terrain training, Maneuver Combat Training Center training, and digital ranges. Additionally, PM TRADE provides the Army's Tactical Engagement Simulation Systems to support all aspects of live tactical engagement simulations, generic training threat simulators and training products to support digitized force training. PM TRADE is also supporting our Warfighters with counter-Improved Explosive Device training capabilities.

PM TRADE is characterized and focused on training products to support the Army's live environment training. Our systems provide Commanders the tools to train the soldier! Product Managers are centrally board selected and chartered by the Army's senior leadership. The Product Managers have a Deputy Product Manager and approximately seven Project Director's which, with PEO STRI matrix support personnel, provide the day-to-day management of our numerous ongoing projects. These project focused teams provide the backbone of the PM TRADE organization.

Vision:

As the Future Combat System (FCS) integrating agent for PEO STRI, PM FF(S) serves as the single point of contact for integration and interoperability of simulation solutions to provide the Warfighter the best possible training solutions and training environment supporting Army Transformation, current and future forces across the full spectrum of military operations.

The FCS Training IPT is one of thirteen FCS IPTs operating as part of a combined Government and Lead Systems Integration (LSI) Team. The Training IPT is responsible for providing an Embedded Training solution for the FCS. The PM FF(S) is also responsible for ensuring that Current Force training solutions keep pace with FCS capability and technology Spin Outs. Integration is the Challenge.

The Multi-cell and Dismounted Command and Control (M&DC2) group will provide a developmental software and hardware experimentation package that provides the capability to TRADOC to prepare for and influence future Battle Command (BC) by providing rigorous analytical environment for measurement of BC tools and capabilities. M&DC2 is ready for deployment of this capability to the Institutional Army.

Mission:

Acquire, Field, and Life Cycle Manage the constructive simulations used to support the Army's command and staff training requirements. Constructive simulations are currently the most effective means to train commanders and staffs of large units (Division and Higher) and are playing an increasing role in training and mission rehearsals for staffs at Brigade and below.

- APM ConSim, JLCCTC - Focused Management of both the Multi-Resolution Federation and Entity Resolution Federation compositions of the Joint Land Component Constructive Training Capability (JLCCTC).

- APM ConSim, Future Systems - Focused Management on Objective Simulations, including WARSIM, targeted at training commanders and staffs at Brigade and above.

- APM ConSim, Current Systems - Focused Management of Current Simulations, IEWTPT, and all Hardware and COTS software fielding requirements for JLCCTC, WARSIM, and OneSAF.

- PM WTI- Focused Management of the Warrior Training Integration Product Manager's Office is three fold:
  - o Develop the Live, Virtual, and Constructive architecture and training environment supporting the Army's Future Force.
  - o Develop, manage, and coordinate the Joint Exercise and Experiments TADSS training requirements.
  - o Integrate the integration of Future Force, Unit of Action, and Unit of Employment training requirements.

Our Mission:

Vision: Provide the world's best training systems to the combat forces of today and tomorrow.

Mission: Lead the development, acquisition and sustainment effort necessary to meet every MAJCOM's simulation and training requirement.

The Training Systems Product Group (TSPG) is an Air Force organization to assist Program Managers and Training System Managers in meeting the training needs of the Air Force. The TSPG consists of four organizations: the Air Force Agency for Modeling & Simulation (AFAMS) in Orlando, FL is an advocate for M&S and facilitates policy, planning and funding processes; the Warfighter Research Readiness Division (AFRL/HEA) of the Air Force Research Laboratory in Mesa, AZ guides the development and transfer of leading edge training technologies; the Simulator Systems Group (ASC/SMSG) of the Aeronautical Systems Center at Wright-Patterson AFB, OH acquires training systems; and the 507th Aircraft Sustainment Squadron (507th ACSS) at Hill AFB, UT sustains fielded training systems. The breadth of the TSPG, from policy to sustainment, offers a true "cradle-to-grave" perspective for warfighters and suppliers alike. Wherever possible, the TSPG seeks partnership opportunities with the training industry to advance training technologies, streamline acquisition processes, and field advanced training concepts. Distributed Mission Operations, Commercial Training Simulation Service contracts, Test 2000, Training System Acquisition (TSA) omnibus contracts, and emerging visual database standards are all testament to this cooperation between Government and industry. As the Air Force increasingly relies on simulation and training products in support of realistic warfighter preparation and leaner operations, the need for greater TSPG/industry cooperation is sure to grow.

General Wallace assumed the duties of Commander, United States Army Training and Doctrine Command on October 13, 2005, after serving as the Commanding General, United States Army Combined Arms Center and Fort Leavenworth.

General Wallace was born on December 31, 1946, in Chicago, Illinois. He was commissioned through the United States Military Academy in 1969. He has a Master of Science degree in Operations Analysis and Master of Arts degrees in International Relations and National Security Affairs.

As TRADOC Commander, General Wallace is responsible for recruiting, training, and educating the Army's Soldiers; developing its leaders; supporting training in units; developing doctrine; establishing standards; and building the future Army. TRADOC is comprised of over 50,000 Soldiers and Department of the Army civilians operating in 33 Army schools across sixteen installations.

General Wallace has commanded with distinction at every possible level from platoon to corps and on two separate occasions led Soldiers in combat. In 1972, he served as an assistant district advisor and later as an operations advisor in the Bac Lieu Province, Vietnam. And recently as the V Corps Commander, General Wallace led the Army's attack to Baghdad in Operation Iraqi Freedom. General Wallace's first assignment was as a platoon leader and troop executive officer in the 2nd Squadron, 6th Armored Cavalry Regiment at Fort Meade. After returning from his first combat tour, he commanded a company at Fort Bragg in the 4th Battalion (Light) (Airborne), 68th Armored Regiment with the 82nd Airborne Division. During the first of three tours to Germany, he took command of 3rd Squadron, 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment in 1986. Following an assignment as the Senior Armored Task Force Trainer and chief of staff at the Army's National Training Center (NTC) at Fort Irwin, General Wallace returned to Germany in 1992 becoming the 55th Colonel of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Fulda. After Regimental command, he returned to Fort Irwin, where he commanded the NTC's operation group and later became commander of the NTC. In 1997, General Wallace took command of the 4th Infantry Division (Mechanized) at Fort Hood. Following division command, he served as Commander, Joint Warfighting Center, and as the Director, Joint Training J-7, in the U.S. Joint Forces Command, Suffolk, Virginia. Returning to Germany for his third tour, General Wallace assumed command of V Corps in 2001.

General Wallace attended both the Armor Officer Basic and Advanced Courses; the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey; the Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth; and the United States Naval War College in Newport. Among his awards and decorations are the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Medal with oak leaf cluster, the Legion of Merit with four oak leaf clusters, the Bronze Star Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal with oak leaf cluster, the Army Commendation Medal with "V" device, the Army Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters, the Army Achievement Medal, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Parachutist Badge, and the Ranger Tab.

Dr. Blake is the Program Executive Officer (PEO) for Simulation, Training and Instrumentation (STRI). He is responsible for providing materiel solutions and services in modeling, simulation, training and test/instrumentation to support the Soldier.

PEO STRI annually executes programs valued at more than $1.9 billion with a workforce that includes over 900 military, civilian, government and industry personnel. Acquisition programs cover 463 contracts valued at more than $6.7 billion and support 334,000 training systems at 516 sites worldwide, including 15 countries. In addition, PEO STRI's Foreign Military Sales program supports 52 countries.

Dr. Blake began his service to the nation as a Private in the U.S. Army and completed his military career as a Colonel while serving as the Senior Uniformed Army Scientist.

During his military career, Dr. Blake served in many positions and locations, including aviation operations in Vietnam. In addition, he served more than eleven years in the research, development, and acquisition arena. Within the Army Acquisition Corps, he holds level-three certifications in five disciplines.

After leaving the military, Dr. Blake held several technical and executive positions in industry before joining academia where he served as a Senior Research Scientist at Texas A&M University.

While at Texas A&M, Dr. Blake joined the Simulation, Training and Instrumentation Command as the Program Manager for the Institute for Creative Technologies (ICT), the internationally recognized University Affiliated Research Center for Advanced Modeling and Simulation. In March 2003, he became the Deputy PEO STRI. On June 2, 2005, he became the PEO.

Dr. Blake is a graduate of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, the Defense Systems Management College, and the U.S. Army War College. His formal education includes a B.S. degree in Accounting from the University of Tampa, an M.S. degree in Systems Engineering from the Naval Postgraduate School, and a Ph.D. degree in Computer Science from Duke University.

June M. Taylor is Director, Simulator Systems Group, Agile Combat Support Systems Wing, Aeronautical Systems Center, Air Force Materiel Command, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. She directs 500 employees at three geographically-separated locations in research, acquisition and sustainment for more than 50 USAF and 10 foreign Air Force aircraft training systems. Leads multicommand, industry teams in creating the acquisition strategy for distributed mission operations.

Ms. Taylor began her civil service career at Duluth International Airport, Minn., in 1972. After serving in the administrative career field, she cross-trained into logistics in 1979. Since cross-training, she has applied her program management and logistics knowledge in acquisition, support and operational organizations. She became a certified professional logistician in 1989. Ms. Taylor is a certified acquisition professional in program management and acquisition logistics. She was designated a Hammer Process Master in 2002. She is a 2004 graduate of the Defense Leadership and Management Program.
